

CRIMSON DESERT · TWO-PLAYER CO-OP MOD

Seamless Co-op+

Bring a friend into Pywel. Explore, fight, race and duel together, and each of you keeps your own save and story.

◆ Play together

- Invite a Steam friend with one key, or let them use Join Game from your Steam profile
- Room codes as a backup way to connect
- Friends-only or invite-only: you choose who can join
- Drop in any time, even mid-fight, in a menu or during a loading screen
- Automatic reconnect after a crash or dropped connection
- Leave whenever you like and land back in your own world, cleanly

◆ Your friend, in your world

- A fully animated character: running, climbing, gliding, swimming and fighting in their own gear
- Gear changes show up live
- Name tag over their head, plus their position on your minimap and map
- Partner frame with their health and stamina, and a warning when they're badly hurt
- Ride horses side by side, and fly together on Blackstar
- Shared map waypoints

◆ Fight side by side

- Shared enemies: you both see and fight the same bandits and beasts
- Enemies get tougher with a partner, and you can tune how much
- Bosses together; the host lands the final blow, so the story stays on track
- Shared boss and story cutscenes; a skip only happens when everyone agrees
- Revive each other where you fall, or respawn right back beside your friend
- Kill feed for both players' takedowns

◆ Challenge each other

- Duels in a ring with a 3-2-1 countdown, rounds and a series score (nobody dies)
- Race to the waypoint: first to the marker on the map wins
- Hunting contest: three minutes, and the most game wins
- Arm wrestling with your friend in the opponent's seat
- Rock, paper, scissors
- A lasting scoreboard and titles you earn, like the Duelist

Free download · github.com/ashersheets-jpg/crimson-desert-coop-playtest

Alpha build · Crimson Desert on Steam · both players use the same version

AND THERE'S MORE

Built for playing together

The little things that make a co-op session feel smooth.

"Two characters, one world, and no loading screen between you."

Each player keeps their own save and items, and a guest can take the host's story along.

Talk and travel

- Text chat right in the game
- Quick messages with map pins: Go here, Danger, Loot here, Follow me, and more
- Go to your friend in one press, or ask them to come to you
- Fast travel together: your friend is offered to follow
- Notices when your friend finishes a quest step, runs into a world event or gets a bounty
- Spoiler guard: hide a friend's story if you're behind

A shared world

- Story sync: catch up on your host's story with one setting
- Time of day and weather follow the host
- Rest at a campfire together
- Loot your way: each your own, host only, or first come
- Your friend can't harm your quest NPCs or townsfolk
- Player colours with a colour-blind-safe option
- Your partner can't be hit while they're in a menu

Easy to set up

- One-click install and uninstall, plus a vanilla on/off switch
- Automatic save backups every time a session starts
- A controls card on first launch, any time after, and with controller buttons when a pad is plugged in
- Full Xbox and PlayStation controller support
- In-game settings panel and rebindable hotkeys

Peace of mind

- Version check, so both players are always on the same build
- Connection readout with ping and packet loss
- Clear messages that tell you what to do when something goes wrong
- Warnings about other mods that might clash
- One-click bug report with personal info removed
- Switches itself off safely after a game update

Unofficial fan mod. Built on Crimson Desert Multiplayer by ByJunter and its port by nouzert1. GPL-3.0.
Not affiliated with or endorsed by Pearl Abyss. Crimson Desert is a trademark of Pearl Abyss Corp.